

Medicines play an important role in treating many conditions and diseases and when they are no longer needed it is important to dispose of them properly to help reduce harm from accidental exposure or intentional misuse.

Follow these simple steps to dispose of medicines in the household trash

MIX

Mix medicines (do not crush tablets or capsules) with an unpalatable substance such as dirt, kitty litter, or used coffee grounds;

PLACE

Place the mixture in a container such as a sealed plastic bag;

THROW

Throw the container in your household trash;

SCRATCH OUT

Scratch out all personal information on the prescription label of your empty pill bottle or empty medicine packaging to make it unreadable, then dispose of the container.

Consumers and caregivers should remove expired, unwanted, or unused medicines from their home as quickly as possible to help reduce risks.

How?

When disposing of unwanted medications, you can leave them in their original packaging. Protect your privacy by peeling off the prescription label or use a permanent marker to cover your personal information. Medicinal ointments, lotions or liquids can be sealed in a plastic bag and placed in the collection boxes or dropped off. Non-medicinal ointments, lotions or liquids can be disposed of in your trash.

To dispose of needles (sharps) safely, place used sharps in an empty container like a laundry detergent bottle or other opaque, sturdy container with a screw-top lid. Insert the needles point first, mark the bottle "Do Not Recycle," and store with the cap tightly screwed on.

When the container is half full, seal the cap with duct tape and place in the garbage (not recycling). Never place loose needles, syringes, or lancets in the trash.

Not Sure?

When in doubt about how to safely dispose of a medication or medical device, check with your pharmacist.
